Useful Information

Naloxone #stopthedeaths

Naloxone can reverse the effects of an opioid-related overdose for a short time. It buys the person time until an ambulance arrives, or they can be seen by a medical professional.

Anyone in Scotland who is likely to find someone experiencing an overdose in their family, their community, their workplace or in a public place can request a naloxone kit and training in its use.

How you can save a life:

1. Recognise the signs of an overdose
2. Call 999
3. Carry naloxone

Midlothian Substance Use Service brings together nurses, doctors, social workers and psychologists. The service specialises in the assessment, care and treatment of people who have problems related to alcohol and/or drug misuse. The Midlothian Substance Use Service supports people to make positive changes to their lives.

Support is provided in many ways and in varying venues, such as, other NHS departments, GP's surgeries and if appropriate at home. We can offer one to one appointments with clients, provide sign-posting to additional services that might be helpful such as Mental Health teams, Blood Bourne Virus service, Sexual Health clinics, Take Home Naloxone programmes, SMART Recovery groups, Coping Skills Groups, information and introduction to the recovery café called Horizons, the dental programme of 'Wide-Smile'. We are currently looking at starting another group to support Trauma through a skills programme and we also have 'Keep-Well' starting soon too to review baseline health issues.

Online Support

There are lots of sites and communities made by and for people in recovery, but it is difficult to know what good online resources are. MELDAP have done the hard work for you and provided good links for help and support below:

- ◆ www.peopleknowhow.org

T: 0131 569 0525 E: reconnect@peopleknowhow.org

People Know How—Reconnect

Reconnect offers support to adults and families in Edinburgh and the Lothians to help them improve wellbeing by increasing digital and social inclusion. We believe that digital inclusion and social inclusion are linked and together contribute to enhanced wellbeing. We provide supportive environment to reduce social inclusion through building digital skills and maintaining connections, helping people to stay connected, improve financial health, increasing employability, access resources and more. We also help adults recovering from substance use to become digitally included. Scotland has the highest drug-death rate in Europe. Increase digital inclusion creates opportunities including finding recovery groups, discovering useful tools and apps, tracking housing applications, applying for Universal Credit, keeping in touch with family or rediscovering hobbies online.

Scottish Families Affected by Alcohol & Drugs (SFAD)

Text: 07908 667551
Helpline: 08080 10 10 11 (free and confidential)
Email: help@sfad.org.uk Web: www.sfad.org.uk

Family Support – Scottish Families support anyone resident in Scotland over the age of 16 that has a concern about their loved one alcohol and/or drug use. They offer you time and space to explore the issues affecting you, let you express your thoughts and feelings, and to help you come up with ideas and solutions to move forward. You will have a support session each week (or a time frame that suits you) of around an hour. They focus on the CRAFT (Community Reinforcement and Family Training) approach to family support. Their trained practitioners will explain and go through different topics each week such as boundaries, communication skills and self-care. If you feel CRAFT is not for you, they can look at other ways of supporting you. For more info on the support service – <https://bit.ly/3rlxqy2>

Bereavement Support – Scottish Families will arrange counselling for anyone living in Scotland age 16+ who has lost a loved one and that loved one used alcohol and/or drugs problematically prior to their death. It does not have to be the cause of their death. The counselling sessions will last around 50 minutes. They usually offer up to six sessions but if you need less or more this can be arranged by your allocated counsellor. For more info about the service - <https://bit.ly/3uj8otm>
To access family support or bereavement support contact our national helpline. Helpline operates Mon-Fri 0900-2300hrs and offers a callback service at weekends. Click & Deliver Naloxone – Naloxone is a drug that temporarily reverses the effects of an opioid overdose. You do not have to be a health professional to carry/administer this drug. Scottish Families offers a postal service for anyone in Scotland who wishes to carry a kit. They offer a choice of two kits. Preoxad pre filled injection (must be 16+) and Nyxoid nasal spray (must be 14+). For training, more info and request form see their webpage – <https://bit.ly/3HM50Lr>

Monday – Friday: 9am to 5pm

The substance use social workers support children and young people who are affected by problematic substance use, this could be as a result of their own drug or alcohol use or that of a parent or carers. The social workers work with children at risk of harm from pre-birth through to 16 years of age. It is their role to work with all relevant family members as well as any other services involved in the child's, life to ensure that they are safe, healthy, happy and have positive life chances. If you are worried about a child who may be affected by substance use or if you are under 16 years of age and worried about your own use; referrals can be made by phoning East Lothian Children's services contact centre on 01875 824 309.

Throughcare and Aftercare Health Practitioner

Randall House
Macmerry Business Park
Macmerry
EH33 1RW

Tel: 01875 842 090
Monday – Friday: 9am to 5pm

The service provides support to young people aged 15-21 years who are currently or have been previously looked after and/or accommodated by East Lothian Council.

The main aim is to support young people throughout the transition into independent living, enabling them to identify any health issues, to empower them to take responsibility for their own health in accessing appropriate services. The worker provides key worker service on individual basis to young people as well as a range of groups (ie young homeless people) and also facilitates a parenting group for young mums, who are either currently or were previously looked after.

An initial referral for this service can be made by a range of professionals ie social work practitioners, health professionals, voluntary agencies etc and young people themselves.

Children 1st Midlothian Family Wellbeing Hub (based in Dalkeith but offer support across Midlothian)

Email: Midlothian@children1st.org.uk
Web: www.children1st.org.uk

We provide support for children, parents and whole families who are impacted by problematic parental substance use. We offer 1:1 and systemic whole family support with the aim of supporting a better understanding of the impact of substance use, supporting children's voices to be heard, supporting parents stability in their recovery and promoting stronger family relationships through provision of fun activities. We take an ACES and trauma recovery approach to address the historic and intergenerational impacts of substance use, poverty, poor mental health and trauma on families. We have a service specifically aimed at supporting kinship families in Midlothian, offering therapeutic parenting support, individual and whole family input within the context of helping families better understand the impact of trauma and strategies to cope.

We offer group based support for parents via our "Moving On Together" parents peer support group, meeting weekly on a Wednesday morning from 9.30 until 1pm. Please contact the team for further info.

We have a Financial Wellbeing Advisor based in the Food Facts Friends Wellbeing Hub in Penicuik, offering advice, income maximisation and debt advice to families and young people under the age of 26 across Midlothian. We also have a fortnightly Family Support group, Tuesday 6-8pm for family members of the person in addiction.

The service core hours are 9-5 however we aim to work flexibly and can offer support during the evening and weekends where needed. We welcome informal enquires for a support discussion in the first instance .

Circle—Grow Your Own Routes

Fisherrow Centre, South Street
Musselburgh, EH21 6AT

Tel: 0131 202 8246

Routes is an evidence-based youth work programme which supports young people aged 12-26 years old affected by alcohol or drug use within their family. Routes offers a mix of one-to-one and group support, along with a busy programme of activities and events bringing young people together. There is no time limit to their involvement, allowing trust to develop with workers and other young people, and all support is individually tailored to each young person. The Routes model engages young people to effect change in their lives, recognising that living with chaos and tantrum in your family does not need to lead to poor outcomes. With the right support, young people can take a very different path, and have a positive future.
